

ARTSFUND

James F. Tune
President & CEO
ArtsFund

Jim Tune came to ArtsFund as President & CEO in January 2006, after a thirty-one-year career as a corporate lawyer. This was a natural move for Jim, due to his long involvement with and enthusiastic commitment to the arts. Mr. Tune has been a deeply engaged member of the ArtsFund board since 1997, having served as the organization's chair, vice chair and secretary. Mr. Tune serves on the United Arts Fund Council under the auspices of the national organization Americans for the Arts, and he has held top board positions at the Seattle Repertory Theatre, including chair and president.

His experience in the arts reaches more broadly through his service as legal counsel to the Kreielsheimer Foundation (which reached its sunset in 2000) where he negotiated and drafted many of its most significant grants to visual arts, music, opera, ballet and theater groups. He continues to serve on the board of the Kreielsheimer Remainder Foundation.

Mr. Tune has served in leadership and fundraising roles with many other civic, educational and human services organizations. From 1997 to 2005, he served as a trustee of United Way of King County including terms as board chair and vice chair. He also chaired that organization's Strategic Planning Committee.

He has served as board member and chair of the Economic Development Council of Seattle & King County (now enterpriseSeattle) and the Foundation of The Group Health Cooperative of Puget Sound. His other civic leadership included the boards of the Greater Seattle Chamber of Commerce, the Red Cross Leadership Council, University Preparatory Academy and the Board of Visitors of Stanford University Law School, the latter of which he is an alumnus. Mr. Tune serves on the corporate boards of Puget Sound Bank of Bellevue and Keynetics Inc. of Boise, ID. He has been appointed by Mayor Greg Nickels to the Seattle Center Advisory Commission commencing in 2008.

Mr. Tune's three decades of experience as a highly respected attorney include a wealth of managerial experience. He was a principal in the Corporate practice group and managing partner of the Seattle office of Stoel Rives LLP from 2002-2005. From 1999 to 2001, he was a partner with Dorsey & Whitney LLP. Prior to that, he practiced law with Bogle & Gates P.L.L.C. from 1974 to 1999 and was managing partner of that firm from 1986-1993.

In addition to leading civic organizations and law firms, Mr. Tune was a leader in the U.S. Navy from 1964-69, serving as Lieutenant and as Officer-in-Charge of Swift Boat PCF 24 in Cat Lo, Vietnam during 1966-67.

Mr. Tune's education includes a J.D. and M.A. from Stanford and a B.A. with high distinction from the University of Virginia.

Mr. Tune and his wife, Katherine, reside in Madison Park. They have two adult children, Kate and Jeff, both of whom are residents of Seattle.
